Land Use Policy

Policy	Details
	Urban Residential - Urban Residential is intended to accommodate attractive neighbourhoods that include a mix of residential housing types and supportive community facilities such as schools, parks, places of worship, and small-scale commercial uses. The predominant land use is low-profile residential development, including single-detached, semi-detached, and duplex dwellings. Low-density housing is generally limited to an average net density of 15 units per hectare, while medium-density forms such as townhouses and fourplexes range between 15 and 30 units per hectare. In the Courtland Urban Area, development density is determined by private servicing limitations, and high-density residential uses must be carefully located.
Official Plan	Designated Greenfield - The County aims to direct at least 25% of annual residential growth to infill, intensification, and redevelopment within fully serviced built-up areas of its Urban Areas. The Built-Up Area boundaries for Simcoe, Port Dover, Delhi, Waterford, and Port Rowan are identified in Schedule "B" of the Official Plan and reflect the extent of development at the time of the Five-Year Review. Development within this boundary is considered infill, while development located between the Built-Up Area boundary and the broader Urban Area boundary is classified as greenfield development. Special Policy Area - The Plan intends for the Port Dover Waterfront Area to remain a distinctive destination that supports tourism, the commercial fishery, and recreational, commercial, and cultural opportunities for residents. Policies focus on enhancing public access to the shoreline, encouraging attractive and compatible development, and protecting and improving the Lynn River and Lake Erie shoreline.
Lakeshore Special Policy Area Secondary Plan - Urban Tourism Nodes (Conceptual)	The Urban Areas of Port Dover and Port Rowan are designated as Urban Tourism Nodes and are intended to serve as the primary hubs for tourism and economic activity within the LSPA. Tourism-related development – including commercial uses, accommodations, restaurants, entertainment, and recreational facilities – is to be directed primarily to the Downtown Areas and Urban Waterfront Designations, with additional opportunities supported in the Central Business District and Commercial Designations.
Zoning	Development Zone (D) - The Development Zone (D) permits a limited range of rural and agricultural-related uses. These include single detached dwellings, farms, farm produce outlets, bunkhouses, home industries, home occupations, and the seasonal storage of recreational vehicles or equipment as a secondary use to a farm. All land, buildings, and structures must conform strictly to these permitted uses. Special Policy Provision 14.975 states that minimum lot area requirements are 8.094 hectares
