3333 BURDE STREET

PORT ALBERNI

Opportunity

The subject property is three legal lots totaling approximately 73 acres of future residential subdivision land. The developable area is estimated to be 42 acres or 58% of the total property area. Currently the property is improved with a single family home (~1,200 SF). Full municipal services are available within the area surrounding the subject property. The site is generally rectangular in configuration. Significant preliminary work has been undertaken to position the lands for the development of residential subdivision lots.

Location

The subject property is located in Port Alberni, a centrally located waterfront community on Vancouver Island with affordable housing and an increasingly diversifying economic base. Port Alberni is a deep-sea inlet, serving as a strategic Pacific gateway with access to major transpacific trade routes.

Zoning

FD – Future Development: Provides for the retention of larger urban land parcels for future, orderly development in accordance with the Port Alberni OCP which designates these lands as Future Residential.

Asking Price

$7,950,000

Due Diligence and Sale Process

The vendor has conduct of sale pursuant to an Order of the Supreme Court of British Columbia. The property is sold “as is, where is” without representation or warranty, and the sale and all terms are subject to court approval. Offers must include a Schedule A outlining these terms.

Detailed property information and development analysis materials are available upon execution of a Confidentiality Agreement. Contact the listing agents for further details.
