Executive Summary

Cushman & Wakefield, as exclusive advisor to the Owner, is pleased to present the opportunity to acquire or lease 4151 US Highway 97A, Wenatchee, Washington (the “Property”), a ± 22,780 square foot industrial facility situated on a ± 7.52 acre parcel within the City of Wenatchee. The Property is being offered as a result of a strategic consolidation of operating locations by the current owner-user, Chamberlin Agriculture. The site has historically supported industrial and equipment-related uses and benefits from a generous land-to-building ratio of approximately 14.4 to 1, providing meaningful flexibility for expansion, outdoor storage, equipment yard configuration, or alternative redevelopment scenarios.

Key attributes of the offering include:

- Strategic Highway 97A frontage with strong visibility and direct access to a primary commercial and industrial corridor connecting Wenatchee, Sunnyslope, and points north.
- Land-rich 7.52 acre parcel providing significant outdoor storage, laydown, or future development capacity, located between US-97A and the BNSF rail corridor along the Columbia River.
- Vacant delivery at closing enabling an owner-user to occupy immediately or a redeveloper to reposition the site without lease-burdened constraints.
- Established industrial use with longstanding commercial zoning and infrastructure suited to manufacturing, distribution, equipment service, agricultural support, and similar industrial activities.
- Resilient regional economy anchored by agriculture, healthcare, hydroelectric power, technology, and tourism, with Wenatchee serving as the urban hub of North Central Washington.

Investment Highlights

Versatile Owner-User and Redevelopment Opportunity

The Property's unique combination of industrial improvements and a sizable, well-located land parcel positions it to serve three distinct profiles: (i) industrial owner-user buyers seeking immediate occupancy of an established, infrastructure-ready site along a primary North Central Washington corridor; and (ii) developers or redevelopers seeking a land-rich parcel with significant frontage, flexibility, and reuse potential and (iii) tenants. The vacant delivery, generous parcel size, and corridor location create a flexible canvas for a wide range of end uses.

Immediate Occupancy for Industrial Users

With an existing $\pm$ 22,780 SF improvement footprint comprising office and equipment storage buildings, the Property offers a turnkey industrial platform for users in agriculture, equipment service and rental, distribution, light manufacturing, contractor yards, and related industrial sectors. The site has historically supported similar uses, including the current owner-user, Chamberlin Agriculture, and is well-suited to industrial operations that require a combination of covered storage, office support, and outdoor laydown area.

Strategic Highway 97A Corridor Frontage

US Highway 97A is a primary north-south arterial connecting Wenatchee with Sunnyslope, Entiat, Chelan, and the broader North Central Washington region. The Property benefits from direct highway frontage and visibility, immediate access to downtown Wenatchee and the Wenatchee Valley industrial submarket, and proximity to the BNSF rail corridor that parallels the Columbia River. This corridor location is increasingly difficult to replicate within the Wenatchee market, where suitable industrial land with highway exposure is limited.

Land-Rich Parcel with Redevelopment Optionality

At ± 7.52 acres, the Property offers a land-to-building ratio of approximately 14.4 to 1, well in excess of typical industrial site ratios. The parcel's size, configuration, and location between US-97A and the rail/river corridor provide meaningful optionality for an owner-user seeking expansion capacity, a build-to-suit developer, or a redeveloper considering alternative uses consistent with City of Wenatchee planning objectives. Per the Chelan County Assessor, land value represents approximately 66% of the Property's 2025 total assessed value, underscoring the underlying land component of the investment.

Resilient and Diversifying Wenatchee Economy

The Wenatchee MSA serves as the economic and population hub of North Central Washington and benefits from a diversified base anchored by agriculture (most notably tree fruit and the broader Apple Capital ecosystem), healthcare (Confluence Health), hydroelectric power, public sector employment, technology and data center activity in the broader Columbia Basin, and tourism. The combination of stable legacy industries and growing diversification supports durable demand for industrial space serving regional production, distribution, and service activities.

Location & Market Overview

Wenatchee, Washington

Wenatchee is the principal city of the Wenatchee MSA (Chelan and Douglas Counties) and serves as the commercial, healthcare, retail, and government hub for North Central Washington. The city is situated at the confluence of the Wenatchee and Columbia Rivers, approximately 140 miles east of Seattle via US Highway 2 and Interstate 90, and approximately 170 miles northwest of Spokane. The MSA is home to roughly 125,000 residents and serves a broader regional trade area of more than 250,000 across Chelan, Douglas, Okanogan, and Grant counties.

The regional economy has historically been anchored by agriculture, with the Wenatchee Valley producing a meaningful share of Washington's apple, pear, and cherry crops. Over the last two decades, the economy has diversified to include significant healthcare, hydroelectric power, public sector, technology and data center, and tourism employment. Major regional employers include Confluence Health, the Wenatchee School District, Chelan County PUD, the City of Wenatchee, Stemilt Growers, Wenatchee Valley College, and a broad base of tree fruit packing and shipping operations.

Submarket and Site Setting

The Property is located along US Highway 97A in the Sunnyslope area of the City of Wenatchee, immediately north of downtown. The site sits on the west side of the highway between the BNSF rail corridor and the Wenatchee River, positioning it within an established corridor of industrial, agricultural support, and commercial uses. Surrounding properties include fruit packing and storage operations, equipment dealers and contractor yards, agricultural service businesses, and supporting commercial users that serve both the local market and the broader North Central Washington trade area.

The corridor is characterized by long-tenured industrial and agricultural users, limited new industrial development due to topographic and land-availability constraints, and strong barriers to entry for newly developed competing supply. As a result, well-located, infrastructure-ready industrial sites within the City of Wenatchee are increasingly difficult to source.

Transportation and Access

US Highway 97A

Direct frontage and access; primary north-south arterial connecting Wenatchee to Sunnyslope, Entiat, Chelan, and the upper Columbia region.

Pangborn Memorial Airport (EAT)

Approximately 7 miles southeast in East Wenatchee, with daily commercial service via Horizon Air to Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

US Highway 2 / SR 285

Approximately 2 miles south, providing connectivity east to Spokane and west across Stevens Pass to the Puget Sound region.

Port of Wenatchee (Olds Station)

Within 2 miles, providing access to industrial park infrastructure and broader port-administered economic development resources.

BNSF Rail Corridor

Adjacent to the parcel; the BNSF main line parallels the Columbia River and supports regional freight movement, including agricultural and intermodal traffic.

Demographics

The Property is well-positioned within the Wenatchee MSA labor shed and trade area, with the City of Wenatchee serving as the principal employment and population center for North Central Washington.

Geography	Population	Households	Median HH Income
City of Wenatchee	±35,500	±13,800	± $68,000
Wenatchee MSA (Chelan & Douglas Counties)	±125,000	±47,500	±$72,000
Regional Trade Area (4 counties)	±255,000	±96,000	±$66,000

Estimates are approximate and based on publicly available U.S. Census, ACS, and economic development source data. To be confirmed and refined as part of the formal OM production process.

- Wenatchee Valley College
- Yahoo / Confluence Technology Center data center operations

Zoning & Entitlements

The Property is located within the corporate limits of the City of Wenatchee and is subject to the City’s Zoning Ordinance and Comprehensive Plan. Allowable uses, development standards, setbacks, parking requirements, and any conditional or overlay designations are to be confirmed with the City of Wenatchee Community & Economic Development Department as part of buyer due diligence.

The Property has historically supported industrial and equipment-related uses and is identified by the Chelan County Assessor under commercial use code 82. Prospective purchasers contemplating a change of use or redevelopment are encouraged to engage with City planning staff early in the diligence process to confirm permitted uses and applicable development standards.

Jurisdiction	City of Wenatchee, Washington
	* The property is within the City of Wenatchee’s urban growth area boundary which means the rules you have to follow are the City’s “in-dustrial” zoning district. Any applications would be processed through the County, but the rules and regulations would be those found in the City’s code. Here is information I pulled from the most recent appraisal, which the county can confirm.

- 2026 Estimated Total Tax: ± $13,063 annually
- Effective Levy Rate (2025): ± 8.24 per $1,000 of assessed value, plus special assessments and the Wenatchee Valley Fire Department fire benefit charge
- Land Value Reassessment: Land value was reassessed from $222,809 to $655,142 effective 2015, reflecting a boundary line adjustment recorded that year. Land value has remained stable since

All assessment and tax information is sourced from the Chelan County Assessor and is subject to change. Buyers are encouraged to independently verify with the Chelan County Treasurer.

Ownership History & Reason for Sale or Lease

The Property is owned by Vanco Enterprises Inc, the corporate ownership entity affiliated with Chamberlin Agriculture. Vanco Enterprises has held the Property since 1993 and has consistently used it in support of Chamberlin Agriculture's operations. The site previously operated as a Chamberlin Distributing location and has continued to support agricultural distribution, equipment, and related industrial activities through the current ownership tenure.

The current transaction is being undertaken in connection with a strategic consolidation of Chamberlin Agriculture's operating footprint.
